

E-Processing of Historical Manuscripts Collections: A Project of the French Research Organization CNRS

Nikolaos E. Myridis

Assistant Professor, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki

University Campus, GR-54124, Thessaloniki, Greece

Tel: 30-2310-996970 E-mail: nmyridis@theo.auth.gr

Abstract

We focus in this paper on a CNRS (Centre National de la Recherche Scientifique, France) project that involves a collection of texts more than 60 years old. This project is the Sources Chrétiennes collection, which assembles in 520 volumes various series of most valuable texts: early Christian, Greek Byzantine, medieval Latin, etc. The content of the texts is theological/historical or even philosophical. The collection is the only bilingual one among the various similar collections. That is, each manuscript is translated in French, no matter what the original language was. We can state, without reservation, that this project is unique—not only amongst French studies—but from a global perspective. Among the various innovative results of our work, we should note in particular the structural analysis of the collection, the hierarchical permutation of the collection's content, the reordered representation of related information, etc. The information contained in this series is thus displayed in a way that demonstrates its great worth and impact on French and European/international studies.

Keywords: CNRS, Sources Chrétiennes, E-keyword, Databases

1. Introduction

Sources Chrétiennes is a multilingual french editorial project under the auspices of CNRS (Centre National de la Recherche Scientifique) (Note 1). It consists of more than 500 volumes. The Sources Chrétiennes collection is one of the most important and respected worldwide collections regarding the critical edition of manuscripts of theological sources. Consequently it incorporates text-milestones of the Christian literature as well as of the human spirit in French (Mondesert, 1988). That is, all projects are always translated in French. The basic languages of prototype manuscripts are Greek, Latin, Armenian, Syrian etc.

The collection ranks among other collections (such as the Patrology of Migne (Migne, 1857-1866), Philokalia (Kalliakmanis, 2009) of St. Nikodimos from the Holy Mountain). It is being gradually completed and its development so far covered 65-years running (Table 1-a)

The rate of progress of the series is shown in Fig.1. This is the picture of the pace of the work per year. Each period has its indicative average progress. The overall average is about 10 (volumes / year) [straight line (Fig.1)].

2. Manuscripts and feature elements

Prior to proceed to enumerate particular collection's features, it is necessary to set out the key elements of the manuscripts in the Sources Chrétiennes anthology. These are also the collection's coordinates, namely:

Author name - Text Title - Volume Number

which are the fundamental attributes of a database too.

We now focus on texts of the Sources Chrétiennes collection written in Greek language.

It is therefore appropriate to develop a kind of statistical analysis which reveals the inherent structure of the entire collection. Initially we should note that there are five fundamental areas of interest (The Sources Chrétiennes Collection, 1943- ). The key feature of each region is briefly identified respectively as:

1. [Hebraic] This family of texts pertains to the early period of Christianity. [10 volumes, 2%]
2. [Greek] The common characteristic of these texts is the Greek language. [242 volumes, 48.4%]
3. [Latin] Manuscripts written in Latin language. [165 volumes, 33%]

4. [Medieval] Texts following the Schism and written during the Medieval period (roughly up to fourteenth-century). [70 volumes, 14%]

5. [Eastern] Manuscripts written by eastern authors in Armenian, Syrian etc. language (e.g. works of St.Efraim the Syrian). [13 volumes, 2.6%]

Analysis of the statistical distribution of the collection's volumes among the aforementioned periods is indicated in the Tables 1-a and 1-b, regarding the first 500 volumes.

3. Topology of the project

We now present the modular backbone of the collection which is equivalent to the citation of the concise project's components. We characterize as concise those elements which describe the complete work in the shape of anchors or 'topographical signs'. Such elements (by volume) are given in column 'Field' in Table 2.

Thus the fundamental elements of the project may construct a DataBase (DB), whose distinct fields are these elements. A scheme of this DB (Myridis, 2009) can be defined.

The DB is formed by implementations of the Cartesian product of its fields. Thus the nine remaining fields (omitting the date of writing) form the graph (Gross & Yellen, 2004) shown in Fig. 2(a) (cubic graph in Fig.2(b)).

Implementations of graph's subsets in Fig.2(b) construct the DB of Sources Chrétiennes. The generalized ranges of values are cited in Table 2, where L stands for the length of strings (names, titles etc.). In the fields 'author', 'area' and 'project category' an indirect redirection (lookup table) between numbers and strings shall be performed. The field value of 'project category' is infinite ( $\infty$ ) as we assume an infinite number of possible thematic subjects.

We thoroughly identify the values of fields in Table 2. We also incorporate a second column in Table 2, wherein the specific fields' values are depicted, regarding Sources Chrétiennes collection.

The 'project category' value for the Sources Chrétiennes case is 65, equal to the number of distinct thematic categories in the collection (Table 4).

4. E-Keyword

The work performed during this study leads to the construction of an electronic 'keyword' (eKeyword) for the Sources Chrétiennes collection (Note 2). An excerpt from the printed version of this e-Keyword is shown in Table A [Appendix] (in alphabetical authors ranking). The formation of such a (digital) table gives the best resource for the undertaking of contemporary research relating to the statistical and structural organization of the series. This is particularly important. Indeed the content and functionality of the collection can be better evaluated. Moreover the complete operation of this multi-annual critical editorial work may be understood in depth. We indicatively present some of the main results which are the effects of hierarchical classification in the e-Keyword.

It should be noticed that, both the analyses referred to hereinafter, as well as those not listed (e.g. for reasons of space), are significantly accelerated and particularly facilitated, by using the e-Keyword and, generally speaking, by using Information Technology (IT) resources.

4.1 Greek authors in Sources Chrétiennes

The table of the published volumes until now (1-519) indicates that there are 61 authors of Greek texts in this collection. We now cite the final list of authors in Greek Literature (Table 3) (Note 3).

4.2 Analysis of Subjects

It is certainly difficult to define precisely all the various subjects dealt with by the Greek library of Sources Chrétiennes. However, in a general effort to analyse and determine the subject matter of Greek Literature we find that there are, at least, three hundred (300) different subjects in the Greek texts of this collection.

The reader could find more on e-processing of texts collections in Bibliography (Myridis, 2006).

5. Subjects & Conclusion

We have previously reported about 300 subjects in Greek texts in the Sources Chretiennes collection. Given the excellent facility provided by the e-Keyword, we construct a general thematic classification of subjects with which the Greek manuscripts of Sources Chretiennes deals. This classification is given in Table 4. We observe that about 65 different topics can be identified. Further analysis and consequent formulation of new categories certainly results in considering a larger table of thematic units.

References

- [Online] Available: www.sources-chretiennes.mom.fr (October 18, 2010).
- Gross J. & Yellen J. (2004). Handbook of Graph Theory. BocaRaton: CRC Press.
- Kalliakmanis V. (2009). From fear to love. Study in the texts of Filokalia. Thessaloniki: Pournaras Pbls. [in Greek].
- Migne J.-P. (1857-1866). The Patrologiae Cursus Completus, Series Graeca. Paris (161 volumes).
- Mondesert Cl. (1988). Pour lire les Peres de l' Eglise dans la collection Sources Chrétiennes. Paris: Foi Vivante-Les Editions du Cerf. [in French].
- Myridis N.E. (2006). The Information of Observation: From Analog to Digital. Thessaloniki: Kyriakides Pbls [in Greek].
- Myridis N.E. (2009). Processing Modules of Digital Information, (3rd ed.) p.90. Thessaloniki: Kyriakides Pbls [in Greek].
- The Sources Chrétiennes Collection*. (1943- ). Lyon: Les Editions du Cerf.

Notes

- Note 1. The government-funded research organization of France
- Note 2. For a printed keyword to the Patrologia Graeca collection see F. Cavallera, Indices: Patrologiae Cursus Completus, Series Graeca. (Paris: Apud Fratres Garnier Editores, 1912).
- Note 3. Details in The Oxford Dictionary of Christian Church (1974), London: Oxford Publishing, etc.
- Note 4. The symbol > is used in order to declare a very large number, while >> declares a huge number.

APPENDIX

Table A. An excerpt of the printed version of the e-keyword of Sources Chrétiennes

|   | Author  | Title (in Greek)  | Volume                               |
|---|---|---|--------------------------------------|
| 1 | Aristeas                                 | Ἐπιστολή πρὸς Φιλοκράτιν                                    | 89                                   |
| 2 | Aristides of Athens                      | Ἀπολογία  | 470                                  |
| 3 | Athanasius St.                           | Ἐπιστολές πρὸς Σεραπίωνα                                    | 15                                   |
|   |   | Ἀπολογία περὶ τῶν διαβαλλόντων τὴν ἐν τῷ διωγμῷ φυγὴν αὐτοῦ | 56bis                                |
|   |   | Ἀπολογία πρὸς τὸν βασιλέαν Κωνσταντίον                      | 18bis (1 st Edt.),199 |
|   |   | Βίος Ἁγίου Ἀντωνίου   | 400                                  |
| 4 | Athenagoras the Athenian the Philosopher | Πρεσβεία περὶ Χριστιανῶν                                    | 3 (1 st Edt.),379     |
|   |   | Περὶ ἀναστάσεως νεκρῶν                                      | 379                                  |
| 5 | Barsanuphius &amp; John                  | Ἐπιστολαί & Ἀποκρίσεις I <sup>1</sup>                       | 426, 427                             |
|   |   | II  | 450, 451                             |
|   |   | III   | 468                                  |

|    |                             |  |                              |
|----|-----------------------------|--|------------------------------|
| 6  | Basil the Great      | Κατά Εὐνομίου 1                                  | 299                          |
|    |                             | Κατά Εὐνομίου 2-3                                | 305                          |
|    |                             | Ὅμιλῆαι εἰς τὴν Ἑξαήμερον, 1-9                   | 26bis                        |
|    |                             | Περὶ Βαπτίσματος                                 | 357                          |
|    |                             | Περὶ τῆς τοῦ ἀνθρώπου κατασκευῆς                 | 160                          |
|    |                             | Περὶ τοῦ Ἁγίου Πνεύματος πρὸς Ἀμφιλόχιον         | 17                           |
| 7  | Basil of Seleucia    | Λόγος εἰς τὸ Ἅγιον Πάσχα                         | 187                          |
| 8  | Gregory Thaumaturgus | Εἰς Ὠριγένην Προσφωνητικός                       | 148                          |
| 9  | Gregory of Nazianzus | Λόγοι 1-12                                       | 247, 309, 405                |
|    |                             | 20-43  | 270, 284, 250, 318, 358, 384 |
|    |                             | Πρὸς Κλυδόνιον ἐπιστολαί I-II                    | 208                          |
|    |                             | Πρὸς Νεκτάριον ἐπίσκοπον Κωνσταντινουπόλεως      |                              |
|    |                             | Χριστός Πάσχων                                   | 149                          |
|    |                             | Ἐπιστολή πρὸς Θεόδωρον ἐπίσκοπον Τυάνων          | 302                          |
| 10 | Gregory of Nyssa     | Περὶ τῆς τοῦ ἀνθρώπου κατασκευῆς                 | 6                            |
|    |                             | Λόγοι κατηχητικοί                                | 453                          |
|    |                             | [Ἐξήγησις] εἰς τὸν Ἐκκλησιαστήν [τοῦ Σολομώντος] | 416                          |
|    |                             | Ἐπιστολαί  | 363                          |
|    |                             | Εἰς τὰς ἐπιγραφάς τῶν Ψαλμῶν                     | 466                          |
|    |                             | Περὶ παρθενίας                                   | 119                          |
|    |                             | Εἰς τὸν βίον τοῦ Μωϋσέως                         | 1bis                         |
|    |                             | Ἐπιστολή εἰς τὸν Βίον τῆς Ὀσίας Μακρίνης         | 178                          |

Table 1-a. The publication progress of the Sources Chrétiennes Collection

|                     |      |      |      |      |      |      |      |      |
|---------------------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|
| Volume number       | 1    | 50   | 100  | 150  | 200  | 300  | 400  | 519  |
| Year of publication | 1943 | 1957 | 1964 | 1969 | 1973 | 1982 | 1994 | 2008 |

Table 1-b. The chronological distribution of the Collection's content

| Period            | First until third century | Fourth until eight century | Ninth until fourteenth century | Total |
|-------------------|---------------------------|----------------------------|--------------------------------|-------|
| Number of volumes | 129                       | 288                        | 83                             | 500   |
| %                 | 25,8%                     | 57,6%                      | 16,6%                          | 100%  |

Table 2. Generalized ranges of values for the fields of Sources Chrétiennes database (Note 4)

| Field                                   | Field values of arbitrary Collection  | Field values of Sources Chrétiennes  |
|---|---|--|
| Title                                   | $L \gg$number of (possible) titles on the collection   | $N_t$the number of individual titles in the specific collection                               |
| author                                  | $N \gg$the overall population of humans in History   | $N=60$the number of greek authors in Sources Chrétiennes                                      |
| number of individual texts (per volume) | $M_1 \in [1, N_s]$the total number of pages per volume, assuming that each volume can at most include one text per page      | $M_1 \in [1, N_s^{\max}]$the maximum number of volume pages in the Collection                 |
| number of introduction pages            | $M_2 \in [1, N_s]$  | $M_2 \in [1, N_s]$   |
| index                                   | [0,1]   | [0,1]  |
| number of index words                   | $N_\lambda >$   | $N_\lambda^{\max}$Sources Chrétiennes case  |
| date of publication                     | $N_\kappa >$the number of human beings in History  | [1943,today]the period of Sources Chrétiennes publications                                    |
| area                                    | $N_\pi >$the dynamic number of geographical regions all over the world (by defining a minimum unit of surface fragmentation) | $N_\pi^{SC}$the set of geographical regions where the scripts of this Collection were written |
| project category                        | $N_c = \infty$the infinite number of possible project's categories   | $N_c = 65$   |

Table 3. List of Greek Literature authors in Sources Chrétiennes

| Authors   |  |
|---|--|
| St. Athanasius [Patriarch]                                  | Joannes Moschus [Spiritual]                            |
| Athenagoras the Athenian [the Philosopher]                  | John Chrysostom [Antiochene 4 th century]   |
| Aristeas [Historian]  | (Pseudo)Chrysostom [Theology]                          |
| Aristides of Athens [Apologist]                             | Callinicus monk [Biographer]                           |
| Barsanuphius & John [Spiritual]                             | Clement of Alexandria [Alexandrian Theologian]         |
| Basil the Great [Cappadocian]                               | Clement of Rome [Apostolic]                            |
| Basil of Seleucia [Antiochene 5 th century]      | Cosmas Indicopleustes [Geographer]                     |
| Gregory Thaumaturgus [Theologian]                           | Cyril of Alexandria [Theologian]                       |
| Gregory of Nazianzus [Theologian]                           | Cyril of Jerusalem [Speeches]                          |
| Gregory of Nyssa [Theologian]                               | Leontius of Byzantium [Theologian]                     |
| Diadochus Bishop of Photike [Spiritual]                     | (Pseudo) Macarius of Egypt [Speeches]                  |
| Didymus the Blind [Alexandrian]                             | Manuel II Palaeologus [Apologist]                      |
| Dionysius the Areopagite [Apologist]                        | Maximus the Confessor [7 th century]        |
| St. Dorotheus of Gaza [Ascetical]                           | Marcus Eremita [Ascetical]                             |
| Irenaeus of Lyon [Contra Heresies]                          | Methodius of Olympia [Spiritual]                       |
| Hermas [Apostolic]  | Melito of Sardis [Orthodox Christology]                |
| Hermias Philosophus [Philosophical writer]                  | Nilus of Ancyra [Ascetical]                            |
| Evagrius Ponticus [Cappadocian]                             | Nicetas Stethatos [Spiritual]                          |
| Eudocia Augusta [Rhetoric]                                  | Nicephorus Blemmida [Theologian]                |
| Eunomius [Arian]  | Nicolaus Cabasilas [Theologian reformer]               |
| Eusebius of Caesarea [Arian Historian]                      | Palladius of Elenopolis [Historian]                    |
| Hesychius of Jerusalem [Hermeneutic]                        | St. Pamphilus [Theologian]                             |
| Theodotus of Ancyra [Minor Asian 5 th century]   | St. Polycarp Bishop of Smyrna [Apostolic]              |
| Theodoretus of Cyrrhus [Antiochene 5 th century] | St. Romanos 'Melodus' [Poet]                           |
| Theophilus of Antioch [Apologist]                           | St. Simeon the new Theologian [Spiritual]              |
| Ignatius of Antioch [Apostolic]                             | Simeon Studita [Spiritual]                             |
| Justin martyr [Philosopher]                                 | Sozomenus [Historian]                                  |
| Hippolytus of Rome [Traditional theologian]                 | Socrates of Constantinople, 'Scholasticus' [Historian] |
| Isidorus Pelusiota [Spiritual]                              | Firmus of Caesaria [Cappadocian]                       |
| John of Beirut [Middle East]                                | Photius of Constantinople [Canon law]                  |
| John of Damascus [Poet]                                     | Origen [Alexandrian writer]                            |

In brackets we cite the characterization of each writer.

Table 4. Thematic catalogue of Greek Literature in Sources Chrétiennes

| Thematic catalogue (categories) |                            |
|--|----------------------------|
| 1. Annotations                         | 32. History of Church      |
| 2. Anthropology                        | 33. Hortative orations     |
| 3. Apocrypha                           | 34. Hymns                  |
| 4. Apologetic                          | 35. Instructive            |
| 5. Apothegms of Fathers                | 36. Le pre spirituel       |
| 6. Ascetics                            | 37. Legendaries            |
| 7. Baptismatic                         | 38. Love                   |
| 8. Canons                              | 39. Martyrdoms             |
| 9. Catecheses                          | 40. Mystic                 |
| 10. Codices                            | 41. Objection apologetics  |
| 11. Comments                           | 42. On Celestial Hierarchy |
| 12. Compendia                          | 43. On Holy Easter         |
| 13. Contra Heresies                    | 44. On Incarnation         |
| 14. Dialogues                          | 45. On Principles          |
| 15. Dogmatic                           | 46. On Resurrection        |
| 16. Encomia                            | 47. On the Holy Passion    |
| 17. Encouraging speeches               | 48. On the Holy Spirit     |
| 18. Epistles                           | 49. On the Holy Trinity    |
| 19. Ethics                             | 50. On thoughts            |
| 20. Evangelic                          | 51. On Wedding             |
| 21. Exegetic                           | 52. Pastoral               |
| 22. Festive                            | 53. Pedagogic              |
| 23. Fests of Lord                      | 54. Practical              |
| 24. Fests of Theotokos                 | 55. Questions & responses  |
| 25. Filokalia                          | 56. Speeches               |
| 26. Gnostic                            | 57. Teaching               |
| 27. Hermeneutics                       | 58. Theology               |
| 28. Hermeneutics of Divine Liturgy     | 59. Therapeutics           |
| 29. Hermeneutics of New Testament      | 60. To kings               |
| 30. Hermeneutics of Old Testament      | 61. Topography             |
| 31. Historic Theology                  | 62. Virginité              |

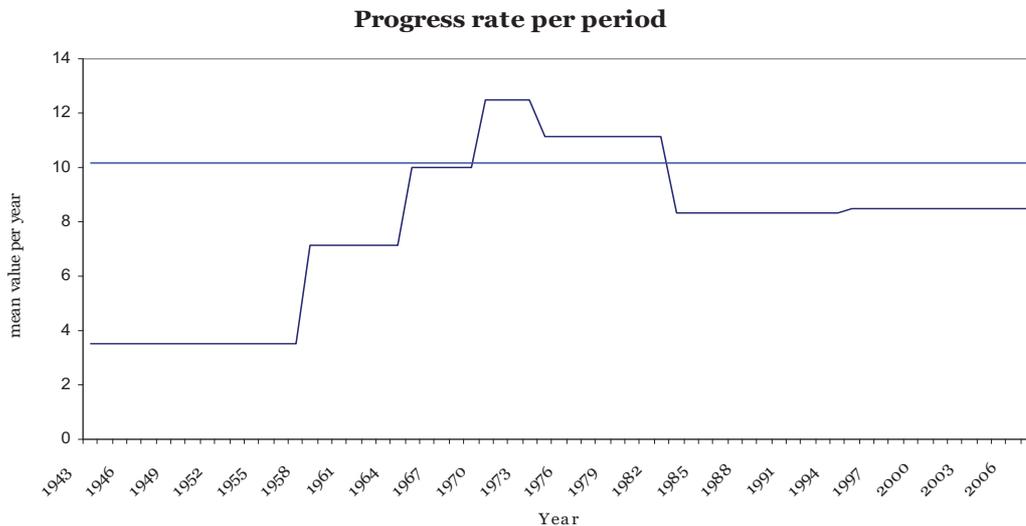

Figure 1. [small graph] The rate of progress for the Sources Chrétiennes collection [large graph] The rate of progress per time period

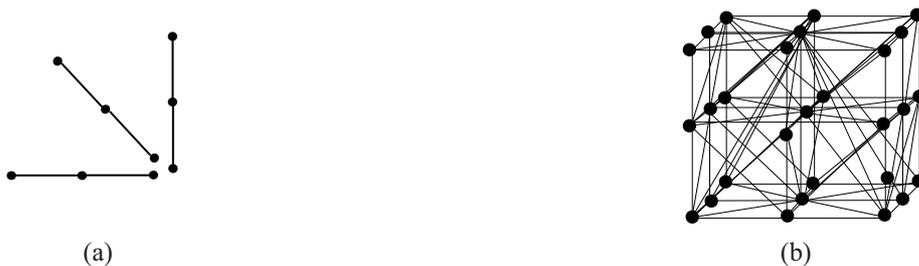

Figure 2. (a) Graph of the Sources Chrétiennes Collection. (b) The cubic graph